Subject: Comps for 111 Fulton #517

Hi Leeann, below are the comparable sales for the apartment we saw today. I focused on units located on lower floors (2nd through 8th), as anything significantly higher wouldn't be considered a true comparable. I also tried to keep the apartments relatively close in size, since units around 550 square feet or those over 800 square feet wouldn't provide a fair comparison.

Sold listings show where buyers have been willing to transact.
In-contract listings provide insight into current trends and demand.
Active listings reflect present seller expectations and where the market is currently positioned.

Things to Consider

- The Greenwich Club is a similar building that trades higher than 111 Fulton
- 56 Pine trades lower than 111 Fulton

- Lower carrying costs can motivate sellers to list higher, and higher carrying costs tend to result in lower asking prices.
